For this assignment, you will submit a full, coherent draft of your proposal or paper. This draft should include all of the sections and relevant components that are required in your final submission (See instructions for the proposal here (<https://canvas.uchicago.edu/courses/71201/assignments/862004>) and paper here (<https://canvas.uchicago.edu/courses/71201/assignments/862003>)). You don't have to fully meet the length requirement, but you should aim to be at least around 90% of your projected length. Your revisions should focus on streamlining your writing, if not cutting down superfluous pieces, more so than on producing new content.

That said, keep in mind that we will grade this assignment as a draft – understanding that this is not your final product. Accordingly, a “5” on this assignment doesn’t necessarily mean that you will receive 100% on your final — it just means that, with some revisions, you are on track to produce a strong proposal/paper

Nonetheless, you should aim to make this draft as close to your final product as possible.

You should submit a PDF and include a Link to your Overleaf project. You might receive some comments on the Overleaf project.
