Your final proposal submission will be a complete, well-formatted research or project proposal that you could use as your MA proposal.

We are expecting an extended proposal of around 3,500-4,000 words in length consisting of the following: (word-counts are rough guidelines)

Your paper itself should include the following sections (minimum word count suggestions for each section are in parentheses):

1. Title
2. Introduction/Front End (This includes Research Questions, Hypotheses, Literature Review, and, if applicable, Context; ~1500 words)
3. Research Design/Methods and Data (~1000 words)
4. Preliminary Work (~500-1000 words) [This can be initial results, description of your proof of concept, etc.]
5. Proposed Timeline and Feasibility Assessment (~500 words)
6. References

Formatting and writing notes/tips

- Include captions for all your figures and tables
- Keep overall writing style consistent (e.g. don't switch from 'I' to 'we' or from past to present tense)
- Do your best to keep your writing formal. Avoid expressions such as 'huge', 'like,' 'dive in' etc.
- Focus on making an argument as opposed to reporting what you did ("e.g. "further exploration shows" rather than "after running analysis A, I did analysis B"). You're writing a paper for a general audience, not a final research report for me.
- Use spelling and grammar checks. Use different tools /software to catch different mistakes
- Read the whole paper aloud before submitting it to catch inconsistencies and errors
- Make sure to update your GitHub repo prior to submission.
